Dr. Stephanie Hart:

I am a family physician who graduated medical school in Calgary in 2003, then residency in Moncton NB in 2005 through Dalhousie University. I worked as a rural family physician for over a decade before pivoting into a niche practice in sexual medicine in 2018.

I have a special interest in advocacy for marginalized groups, including patients facing medical weight stigma, after seeing what patients face as well as personal experiences within the healthcare system. I am an advocate for HAES (Health At Every Size) and for adequate healthcare for all, regardless of body size.
