Huge Thank You!

The R4's wanted to send a huge thank you to all of the staff who volunteered their time over the past few months to help us prepare for our FRCP Emergency Medicine Exam! A special shout out to Brit, Chase & Meg for coordinating the many extra practice exam sessions in the lead up to the real thing, and all of the staff who sat through hours of oral exams to help us prepare!

We are exceptionally lucky to be training in a Department where the attendings care about our training and progress as much as you all do. Thank you, thank you!!

EDAC is Canada's foremost annual meeting for nursing and physician leaders – and future leaders – in emergency services as well as other system leaders with emergency responsibilities.

This year we will have several components to the program.

- For those in the Toronto area that evening we will have an in-person networking dinner to enable our audience to get to know our speakers and each other a little more personally.

Leadership Opportunities - Quality Improvement and Accreditation, Postgraduate Medical Education

The Office of Postgraduate Medical Education (PGME), Cumming School of Medicine, is accredited by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons (RCPSC) and the College of Family Physicians of Canada (CFPC). Residency training programs have independent education curricula and are separately accredited according to the Royal College and College of Family Medicine mandated requirements. CanRac accreditation standards include a new emphasis on continuous quality improvement and highlight “tracer themes” such as patient safety, resident wellness, learner and faculty assessment strategies, infrastructure, and human resources to support residency education. The medical leadership opportunities described below will join the physician leadership team at PGME to build capacity to support continuous quality improvement and accreditation for all residency training programs.

PGME QI and Accreditation Specialist

The two physician leadership opportunities (attached) will work in concert with one another.

Expressions of interest in these opportunities can be submitted to crystal.boisselle@ucalgary.ca

Grief Support Program Workshop

We are very excited to be partnering with the Grief Support Program to offer our staff an opportunity to attend their redeveloped “How to Care What to Say; Conversations about Death, Dying, Loss, and Grief” workshop

This is a great opportunity for providers to feel more confident, capable and knowledgeable in providing support to individuals experiencing grief and loss.

This session will explore how to support “in the moment” grief reactions, provide clarity on our own experiences with death and loss, and finally provide concrete tools on how to best support those dealing with loss. This workshop is suitable for any health care provider.
