

INCREASING AWARENESS OF STRANGULATION

How we can take a collaborative approach to supporting individuals who have been strangled

Alberta has the third highest rate of self-reported intimate partner violence in Canada. Strangulation is an extremely common and dangerous form of intimate partner violence. It is widely known as the most lethal form of intimate partner violence.

The Strangulation Working Group is pleased to offer a panel presentation to address gaps in community knowledge, services and support.

This panel webinar is best suited for: Doctors, physicians, nurses, nurse practitioners, hospital administrators, psychologists, social workers and front line service providers.
