

Sessional Instructors – MDGE601, 602, 603, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609
and MDSC 674.01 and 674.02

Cumming School of Medicine: Master of Biomedical Technology (MBT) Graduate Program

The Director of the Master of Biomedical Technology (MBT) Graduate Program in the Cumming School of Medicine is accepting applications for Term Certain (Fall and Winter Terms 2019-20) Sessional Instructors to coordinate and teach in a series of graduate courses.

Qualifications and Experience:

- An enthusiastic and positive team player with strong interpersonal skills.
- Passionate about consumer health and building innovative products. Experience generating and executing on novel ideas.
- A history of being proactive, thorough, independent, curious, and willing to learn.
- Well organized, detail-oriented, and able to prioritize and execute multiple projects simultaneously.
- Experience and demonstrated enthusiasm for university teaching and course coordination at the graduate level.
- Demonstrated excellence in biotechnology, biomanufacturing development, intellectual property, corporate leadership, project management, clinical trials, financial evaluation, regulatory affairs and/or communication, marketing and sales.
- Doctorate degree in the biomedical, physiological or pharmaceutical sciences, or in finance, corporate leadership or project management.

The Master of Biomedical Technology (MBT) Graduate Program is a one-year-long professional graduate degree that provides an intensive series of laboratory and classroom courses followed by a 12 week on-the-job practicum with leading industry sponsors in science-based businesses. MBT courses encompass both scientific and business realms and cover an interlocking mosaic of concepts designed to prepare students for a professional biotechnology-focused career.

Applicants must submit a curriculum vitae plus the names of three potential referees to Dr. Janice Braun at the following address no later than April 7, 2020:

Dr. Janice Braun, Director
Master of Biomedical Technology (MBT) Graduate Program
Cumming School of Medicine
3330 Hospital Drive NW
Calgary, AB T2N 4N1
braunj@ucalgary.ca

Applicants should note that strong internal candidates have been identified for these positions.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority. The University of Calgary respects, appreciates and encourages equity, diversity and inclusion. We strive to preserve a welcoming work setting.