Workshop Descriptions

The Hidden Curriculum and Learner Wellness (September 9, 9:00-11:00am)

Dr. Martimianakis will provide an overview of the construct of the Hidden Curriculum and describe how it fits with current accreditation standards, with examples related to learner/faculty wellness. Following the presentation participants will be supplied with a case related to learner wellness to use in guided small group exercises related to both describing and addressing hidden curriculum effects in ongoing educational work. The workshop will end with large group discussion on the practicalities of ongoing monitoring of the hidden curriculum to support educational quality improvement.

How to combine theory and praxis in our many complementary and conflicting roles as academics in medical education (September 9, 12:30-2:30pm)

Drs. Kuper and Martimianakis will open with presentations based in their own lived experiences and theoretical orientations and then engage participants with exercises and small group discussion to help them identify relevant ways to integrate their positionalities in the many aspects of their work educating, leading, providing care, researching etc.
