

Graduate Assistant –Teaching (GAT) Position Available
0.75 GAT (9 hrs per week, August 2025 – April 2026)

We are seeking a senior graduate student for a 0.75 (9 hrs/week) GA-T position for the honours thesis and research communication capstone course for all students in the Bachelor of Health Sciences Honours degree program, known as MDSC 508. Students enrolled in MDSC 508 complete an honours thesis project and participate in Friday afternoon sessions focusing on thesis research support and the development of research communication skills.

The successful applicant will be mature, responsible and reliable; preferably in their 2nd year or higher of their Masters or PhD program. This position will require someone who enjoys interfacing with undergraduate students as well as faculty.

The role of the GA-T will be to support the course coordinators, Dr. Donna Slater and Dr. Fabiola Aparicio-Ting, and work collaboratively with another GA-T in the following activities:

- attending Friday afternoon sessions (approx. 2 hours)
- coordinating with the other GA-T to manage submissions of forms, proposals, progress reports and theses through D2L
- circulating proposals and theses as required (to supervisors, reviewers; twice over the academic year))
- general and timely communication with students and research supervisors (class emails, follow-up with submissions and grade submissions, etc.)
- providing logistical support for Friday afternoon sessions and oral defense exam day (delivering cables and remotes to small group rooms).
- participating as an alternate small group preceptor, if needed
- general communications with course coordinators

Interested students please send a statement of interest(cover letter) and CV to Dr. Donna Slater (dmslater@ucalgary.ca) and Dr. Fabiola Aparicio-Ting (feapartic@ucalgary.ca).

Application deadline: July 3rd, 2025
