The Department Head (Microbiology Immunology and Infectious Diseases) in the Cumming School of Medicine is accepting applications for Term Certain (Winter Term 2022) Sessional Instructor to coordinate and teach graduate course in MDSC640 - Principles of Immunology in the Winter 2022 term.

Position Requirements

Applicants with the following characteristics are encouraged to apply:
• a PhD in Immunology,
• prior university teaching experience at the undergraduate and/or graduate level,
• prior experience in course coordination,
• demonstrated research excellence in biostatistics and/or applied health research methods
• highly effective interpersonal skills

The Immunology Graduate Program is a research-intensive graduate degree program that provides a graduate experience designed to engage students in all aspects of immunology. Students from a variety of disciplines are enrolled in a graduate degree program in which immunology is relevant to their studies, but who do not necessarily have a prior background in immunology. For more information, please visit our website: http://www.medicine.ucalgary.ca/mdim

Applicants must submit a curriculum vitae and arrange to have three written letters of reference directed to Dr. Christopher Mody, Department Head (Microbiology Immunology and Infectious Diseases) in the Cumming School of Medicine. Application documents (including letters of reference) should be emailed by no later than November 15 to:

Marcy Brett
Administrative Assistant to Dr. Christopher Mody
Department Head (Microbiology Immunology and Infectious Diseases)
4AA14 HRIC
3330 Hospital Drive NW
Calgary AB T2N 4N1
mbrett@ucalgary.ca

Consideration of applications will begin Oct 26, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority. The University of Calgary respects, appreciates and encourages diversity.