1979 Psychologist, Central Child Guidance Clinic, Glasgow, Scotland, Responsible for community and school based mental health services for a district of eight schools. Coordinated care and monitoring between physicians, families, schools and community organizations.

Professional Clinical Training Workshops:

During the period 1979 to 1998, I developed and delivered over 25 continuing education courses for professional Chartered Psychologists in Alberta focused on the prevention, assessment and treatment of: child abuse, eating disorders, alcohol and drug addiction, and depression. I also designed and delivered courses in behaviour management and provided expert witness testimony in cases of child and adult sexual abuse.

Professional Consulting:

2004- 2008 Research Associate: CIHR funded Women and Domestic Violence Health Policy Project: Afghanistan Lead. Department of Community Health Sciences

2004 Advisor: Strategic planning and implementation of disaster relief training Canadian Red Cross, September.

2002- 2004 Research and Evaluation Consultant: Calgary Health Region
The Calgary Cross Cultural Awareness Project: This project was designed to facilitate community and health care provider participation in the development of culturally competent health care delivery in north east Calgary. The retrospective evaluation focused on the effectiveness of the 'cultural broker' role as a model for enhancing quality of care. The evaluation led to recommendations being accepted to formalize the role of "cultural broker" to serve health professionals needing information and guidance on cultural diversity.
The Calgary Cross Cultural Mental Health Consultation Project (CCCMHCP). This project provided leadership to develop, support and enhance culturally competent and responsive mental health services within the Calgary Health Region and Alberta Mental Health Board. The project involved extensive liaison with mental health professionals and with various ethno cultural communities and immigrant serving organizations.
As the person responsible for formative evaluation I focused on the re-design and development of project outputs, outcomes and impacts. Working in collaboration with the project director, Carrie Bon Bernard, developed a Cultural Competency Self-Assessment Tool for Health Care Workers in the Calgary Health Region. This tool was been adopted for research purposes by the Alberta Children's Hospital Diversity Project.
Research Advisor, Senior Mental Health Promotion: Creation of a Service Delivery Framework: In this project I was involved in integrating the CHR's Healthy Aging Goals and Health Promotion Framework with Mental Health Objectives. I designed the research project, analyzed and reported on data from interviews carried out with diverse stakeholder groups from the community and health sector. In collaboration with the project coordinator, created a guiding framework document for senior's mental health promotion.
