Course Description:

An overview of research methods in community rehabilitation and disability studies. An introduction to the major design, analyses and knowledge transfer strategies in the field.

Overarching Theme

The course will look at broader research design in the social sciences and community research methods more specifically. The course will introduce practical examples of research in disablement, health, and disability studies. Research will be connected to transformative social change.

Global Objectives

The value of research as a catalyst for positive social change has long been established in the social and health sciences. Research based in, led by, or in collaboration with the community has made space for the voices of those marginalized by unjust and exclusionary societal structures and provided essential data to be used in the transformation of policy and practice.

Despite the potential for positive impact, the approach is fraught with issues with power imbalances between academics and community, the overburdening and undervaluing of the contributions of marginalized people and the lack of translation of academic research to community and policy impact.

This course will address these issues by examining the production and dissemination of evidence, methods of conducting research in academic and community settings, strategies for grappling with power, ethics, and marginalization issues, and strategies for the translation of social issues to research and research findings to policy and practice.

The course objectives are:

- To foster students' ability to identify key issues and concepts in research both academic and community based
- To cultivate an interest in and understanding of research and research methods
- To explore paths to translate social issues to research and research to policy and practice
- To apply learnings in a meaningful in-class experiential project

Course Learning Objectives

By the end of the course students will understand:

- How to identify and apply worldviews and epistemological frameworks
- The differences and similarities between research based at a university and research based in the community and the value and challenges of both
- Major research methods in quantitative, qualitative, mixed methods and transformative research approaches
- Appropriate and realistic research methodologies for particular projects
- How to develop and review ethics applications
- Issues around power, disablement, and marginalization inherent in the research process
- Data analysis techniques and how to select a suitable approach to analyses
- Collaboration and partnerships in research and strategies to build and maintain these relationships
- The challenges and importance of translating research to social change

Evaluation

The University policy on grading and related matters is described in section F of the 2020-2021 Calendar.

In determining the overall grade in the course, the following weights will be used:

Ten weekly quizzes - 3 points each (Completed at the beginning of the next week's class): 30%

The weekly quiz will be multiple choice and short answer and will reflect assigned readings and some content from previous week's guest lecture where applicable. The quizzes for each week are open book and completed online at the beginning of class. Students may use a mobile phone, tablet, or computer. If a quiz is not completed, there will not be a chance for a make-up quiz.

Research Proposal (Due September 28th): 20%

The research proposal is completed in groups and consists of a literature review including epistemological discussion and a refined research question. The rubric for the proposal will also include a group participation mark and a peer group mark of 25% of the grade. Group work will be carried out in class and weekly group work activity sheets must be completed by each member and uploaded to D2L in order for that member to receive the group participation mark.

Ethics application, review, and response to review (Due October 26th): 20%

The ethics application is carried out in groups and requires a completion of an ethics application following the University of Calgary IRISS guidelines. Groups will be responsible for reviewing another group's application and providing feedback. The feedback received from each group must be reflected in the final ethics protocol. The rubric for the proposal will also include a group participation mark and peer group mark of 25% of the grade. Group work will be carried out in class and weekly group work activity sheets must be completed by each member and uploaded to D2L in order for that member to receive the group participation mark.

Research presentation (November 24th-December 1st) 10%

A final presentation of the group work from the semester will take place on November 24th and December 1st. Students are expected to attend both classes and stay to listen to their classmates' presentations even if their own is finished.

Research paper (Due December 7th): 20%

The research paper will be a complete research article including the literature review, research question, methods, data collection, conclusion, and discussion. Alternatives to a traditional research paper may also be discussed depending on the translation strategy. These might include a policy brief, short report, plain language report etc. If an alternative document or activity is created data collection, analysis, results and a discussion of those results must be included. The rubric for the paper will also include a group participation mark of 25% of the grade. Group work will be carried out in class and weekly group work activity sheets must be completed by each member and uploaded to D2L in order for that member to receive the group participation mark. Students will submit individual papers.

The details of each element and a rubric for each assignment will be posted on D2L.

A Note regarding Writing Assignments:

Writing skills are important to academic study in all disciplines. In keeping with the University of Calgary's emphasis on the importance of academic writing in student assignments (section E.2 of 2020-21 Calendar), writing is emphasized, and the grading thereof in determining a student's mark in this course. The Bachelor of Community Rehabilitation values excellence in writing. Competence in writing entails skills in crafting logical, clear, coherent, non-redundant sentences, paragraphs and broader arguments, as well as skills with the mechanics of writing (grammar, spelling, punctuation). The University of Calgary offers a number of instructional services through the Students' Success Centre's Writing Support Services (<http://www.ucalgary.ca/writingsupport/>) for students seeking feedback on assignments or seeking to improve their general writing skills. Students are strongly encouraged to take advantage of these programs.

Grading Scheme:

Letter Grade	Description	Percentage
A+	Outstanding performance	96-100
A	Excellent performance	90-95
A-	Approaching excellent performance	85-89
B+	Exceeding good performance	80-84
B	Good performance	75-79
B-	Approaching good performance	70-74
C+	Exceeding satisfactory performance	65-69

Missed Components of Term Work:

Late assignments will receive a late penalty of 5% per day and will not be accepted after 72 hours and will automatically receive a mark of zero. Students who miss a quiz will receive a mark of zero. There will be NO exceptions to this policy.

Extensions will NOT be granted on any assignment or quizzes. The only exceptions to this are those in keeping with the University Calendar (debilitating illness, religious conviction, or severe domestic affliction) that are received in writing and with supporting documentation. Please note that while absences are permitted for religious reasons, students are responsible for providing advance (14-day) notice and adhering to other guidelines on this matter, as outlined in the University Calendar (<https://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/e-4.html>).

Course Evaluations and Student Feedback

Student feedback will be sought at the end of the course through the Universal Student Rating of Instruction (USRI) and a qualitative student evaluation. Students are welcome to discuss the process and content of the course at any time with the instructor. Students may also address any concerns they may have with Dr. Ebba Kurz, Associate Dean (Undergraduate Health and Science Education) in the Cumming School of Medicine (kurz@ucalgary.ca).

Guidelines for Zoom Sessions

Zoom is a video conferencing program that will allow us to meet at specific times for a 'live' video conference, so that we can have the opportunity to meet each other virtually and discuss relevant course topics as a learning community.

To help ensure Zoom sessions are private, do not share the Zoom link or password with others, or on any social media platforms. Zoom links and passwords are only intended for students registered in the course. Zoom recordings and materials presented in Zoom, including any teaching materials, must not be shared, distributed or published without the instructor's permission.

The use of video conferencing programs relies on participants to act ethically, honestly and with integrity; and in accordance with the principles of fairness, good faith, and respect (as the Code of Conduct). When entering Zoom or other video conferencing sessions, you play a role in helping create an effective, safe and respectful learning environment. Please be mindful of how your behaviour in these sessions may affect others. Participants are required to use names officially associated with their UCID (legal or preferred names listed in the Student Centre) when engaging in these activities. Instructors/moderators can remove those whose names do not appear on class rosters. Non-compliance may be investigated under relevant University of Calgary conduct policies. If participants have difficulties complying with this requirement, they should email the instructor of the class explaining why, so the instructor may consider whether to grant an exception, and on what terms. For more information on how to get the most out of your zoom sessions visit: <https://elearn.ucalgary.ca/guidelines-for-zoom/>.

If you are unable to attend a Zoom session, please contact your instructor to arrange an alternative activity. Please be prepared, as best as you are able, to join class in a quiet space that will allow you to be fully present and engaged in Zoom sessions. Students will be advised by their instructor when they are expected to turn on their webcam (such as for group work, presentations, etc).

The instructor may record online Zoom class sessions for the purposes of supporting student learning in this class – such as making the recording available for review of the session or for students who miss a session. Students will be advised before the instructor initiates a recording of a Zoom session. These recordings will be used to support student learning only.

Attendance

While there is no specific grade for attendance, a student's mark on any component of the in-class research project will include a component of participation in class and in group work. See more details on each assignment's rubric on D2L.

Students are expected to take notes during class and should not rely solely on material supplied by the instructors.

Conduct During Lectures/Seminars

The classroom (even when virtual) should be respected as a safe place to share ideas without judgement - a community in which we can all learn from one another. Students are expected to frame their comments and questions to lecturers in respectful and appropriate language, always maintaining sensitivity towards the topic. Students, employees, and academic staff are also expected to demonstrate behaviour in class that promotes and maintains a positive and productive learning environment.

As members of the University community, students, employees and academic staff are expected to demonstrate conduct that is consistent with the University of Calgary Calendar, the Code of Conduct and Non-Academic Misconduct policy and procedures, which can be found at <https://www.ucalgary.ca/policies/forms/title>.

Electronic Devices

The Bachelor of Community Rehabilitation program aims to create a supportive and respectful learning environment for all students. The use of laptop and mobile devices is acceptable when used in a manner appropriate to the course and classroom activities. However, research studies have found that inappropriate/off-topic use of electronic devices in the classroom negatively affects the other students in class.

<https://www.ucalgary.ca/policies/files/policies/electroniccommunications-policy.pdf>

Students are responsible for being aware of the University's Internet and email use policy, which can be found at <https://www.ucalgary.ca/policies/files/policies/electronic-communications-policy.pdf>.

Academic Accommodations

It is the student's responsibility to request academic accommodations according to the University policies and procedures listed below. The Student Accommodations policy is available at <https://ucalgary.ca/student-services/access/prospective-students/academic-accommodations>. Students needing an accommodation based on disability or medical concerns should contact Student Accessibility Services (SAS) in accordance with the Procedure for Accommodations for Students with Disabilities (<https://www.ucalgary.ca/policies/files/policies/procedure-for-accommodations-for-students-with-disabilities.pdf>). Students who require an accommodation in relation to their coursework based on a protected ground other than disability should communicate this need in writing to their instructor.

SAS will process the request and issue letters of accommodations to instructors. For additional information on support services and accommodations for students with disabilities, visit www.ucalgary.ca/access/ .

Academic Misconduct

The University of Calgary is committed to the highest standards of academic integrity and honesty. The University of Calgary has created rules to govern all its members regarding the creation of knowledge and the demonstration of knowledge having been learned.

Academic Misconduct refers to student behaviour that compromises proper assessment of a student's academic activities and includes (but is not limited to): cheating, fabrication, falsification, plagiarism, unauthorized assistance, failure to comply with an instructor's expectations regarding conduct required of students completing academic assessments in their courses, and failure to comply with exam regulations applied by the Registrar.

<https://ucalgary.ca/policies/files/policies/student-academic-misconduct-procedure.pdf>

Additional information is available on the Academic Integrity website at: <https://ucalgary.ca/student-services/student-success/learning/academic-integrity>.

Recording of Lectures

Audio or video recording of lectures is prohibited except where explicit permission has been received from the instructor.

Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act

Student information will be collected in accordance with typical (or usual) classroom practice. Students' assignments will be accessible only by the authorized course faculty. Private information related to the individual student is treated with the utmost regard by the faculty at the University of Calgary

Appeals

If there is a concern with the course, academic matter or a grade, first communicate with the instructor. If these concerns cannot be resolved, students can proceed with an academic appeal, as per Section I of the University Calendar. Students must follow the official reappraisal/appeal process and may contact the Student Ombuds' Office (<http://www.ucalgary.ca/ombuds>) for assistance with this and with any other academic concerns, including academic and non-academic misconduct. Students should be aware that concerns about graded term work may only be initiated within 10 business days of first being notified of the grade. <https://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/i-2.html>

MEDIA RECORDING

Please refer to the following statement on media recording of students: https://elearn.ucalgary.ca/wp-content/uploads/2020/05/Media-Recording-in-Learning-Environments-OSP_FINAL.pdf

Media recording for lesson capture

The instructor will use media recordings to capture the delivery of a lecture. These recordings are intended to be used for lecture capture only and will not be used for any other purpose. Although the recording device will be fixed on the Instructor, in the event that incidental student participation is recorded, the instructor will ensure that any identifiable content (video or audio) is masked, or will seek consent to include the identifiable student content to making the content available on University approved platforms.

Media recording for self-assessment of teaching practices

The instructor may use media recordings as a tool for self-assessment of their teaching practices. Although the recording device will be fixed on the instructor, it is possible that student participation in the course may be inadvertently captured. These recordings will be used for instructor self-assessment only and will not be used for any other purpose.

Sexual Violence Policy

The University recognizes that all members of the University Community should be able to learn, work, teach and live in an environment where they are free from harassment, discrimination, and violence. The University of Calgary's sexual violence policy guides us in how we respond to incidents of sexual violence, including supports available to those who have experienced or witnessed sexual violence, or those who are alleged to have committed sexual violence. It provides clear response procedures and timelines, defines complex concepts, and addresses incidents that occur off-campus in certain circumstances. Please see the policy available at <https://www.ucalgary.ca/policies/files/policies/sexual-violence-policy.pdf>
