

We hope this message finds you and your loved ones well. This is a difficult time for our community and the world, as together we face an unprecedented reality. The COVID-19 outbreak has changed how we live and work, how we interact with one another, and how we plan for the short and long-term.

As you may recall from previous years, the University of Calgary has had its annual Giving Day within the month of April. Given the current state of the world, the University has adjusted its previous plans around this initiative. We understand that these are uncertain times and many Canadians are facing financial hardship. If you are interested and are in a position to make a contribution, all gifts made between now and May 22 are eligible for a match while the matching funds last (up to $2,500 per gift). You may wish to renew your support to the Dr. Timothy and Linda Tang Anesthesia Research Fund and can do so by visiting here: <https://netcommunity.ucalgary.ca/anesthesiaresearchfund>.

For interest, the University has also established 2 new COVID-19 related funds around research and student relief. More information about those can be found at: UCalgary Together – Giving Day 2020
