

Cultivate Inclusion

We all deserve safety.

Recognizing, discussing and tackling injustices, harassment, racism and discrimination are vital for cultivating respectful, welcoming and safe campus environments.

What can you do?

Whether you are a learner, faculty, staff or trainee, we all deserve safety.

If you witness or experience microaggressions, discrimination or harassment, there are several routes of reporting an incident confidentially. Supports and resources are available at the Cumming School of Medicine (CSM).

Learn more about reporting an incident, and about fostering inclusion and belonging as an ally.
