Objectives

This award is intended to recognize learners who have demonstrated a commitment and/or passion for health professions education. This could be education research, curriculum or workshop development, leadership, advocacy, etc., that has had a positive impact for the health professions education community at their school.

The Award

The CAME Rising Star Certificate of Excellence consists of a certificate and the opportunity to write an article for the CAME Voice. There are up to three awards at each Canadian medical school: 1 for medical students; 1 for residents/fellows; 1 for graduate students. The initial nomination does not need to be made by a CAME member. Members currently serving on the CAME Executive or CAME Board of Directors are not eligible as nominees. Nominations must be formally resubmitted each year to be considered.

Awardees will be notified by email. The Certificate of Excellence will be presented at a CAME virtual special event. It is an expectation that the awardees will attend where at all possible. CAME will acknowledge each recipient on its website, newsletter, and through Twitter, Instagram, LinkedIn, and Facebook.

Eligibility Criteria

1. All learners who are engaged in medical education scholarship and currently registered in one of the 17 Canadian Faculties of Medicine are eligible. Recipients need not be members of CAME. Award category is based on the nominee's status at the time of nomination – for example, a graduate student who has defended before the awards are announced but was still in their program at the nomination deadline, is eligible for the graduate student category.
2. Recipients will have been engaged in health professions education scholarship in a way deemed to be valuable within their faculty of medicine (teaching, assessment, evaluation, educational leadership, course or workshop or session development, education, research).
3. Recipients should not have already been recognized for this contribution with a national award (e.g., from CAME, MCC, RCPSC, CFPC, etc.).
