

Child Health and Wellness Seminar

Pregnancy during the COVID-19 pandemic:
A unique opportunity to study maternal and child health

Drs. Catherine Lebel, Lianne Tomfohr-Madsen and Gerald Giesbrecht

Associate Professors, University of Calgary

We will describe our pregnancy during the pandemic study, which recruited approximately 10,000 pregnant women across Canada during the COVID-19 pandemic. We will also describe early results related to maternal mental health and child outcomes over the first year, with special attention to risk and protective factors that moderate outcomes.
