

CHILD HEALTH AND WELLNESS SEMINARS

Social support and social conflict: Close relationship quality and maternal-child health

Dr. Kharah M. Ross, PhD

Adjunct Professor, University of Calgary
Assistant Professor, Athabasca University

Dr. Ross' research is in the area of health psychology and psychoneuroimmunology. One of her research interests is in how stress and close relationship factors predict health and well-being, with a focus on maternal-child health.

Monday, March 22, 2021

8:30 – 9:30 am

Register for Zoom access: bit.ly/3dtdl1a

