Inclusive Lectures Checklist

Does your lecture...

Contain only images of white people?

Use representative images:

Skin of Color Image Atlas
Mind the Gap Dermatology Atlas
Medical Illustrations by Chidiebere Ibe

Use the preferred language of patients with the condition?

Use person-first language:

E.g.,"Patients with diabetes",
"patients who use drugs".
Many national patient organizations have a section on language.

Acknowledge sex- and gender diversity?

Use gender-neutral language:

Learn about how intersex and trans patients experience the condition of interest.

Make inappropriate jokes or comments?

Ask a friend:

Comics, memes, photos, and jokes about weight, tattoos, substance use, sexual orientation, personality traits, and race are not funny.
